Food Diversification Of Poor Family In Subdistrict Rumbai
The Pekanbaru City

By Rasiani Juniarti Maria Sihaioho (0211811)

Under Supervision By Dr. Ir. Suardi Tarumun, Msc. And Dr.Ir. Netti Herawati, Msc.

ABSTRACT

The purpose of this research are 1). Knowing food diversification and pattern of food consumption of poor family in subdictrict Rumbai. 2). For knowing factors that influence food diversification of poor family in Subdistrict Rumbai. This research was held in April until August and using Multistage Random Sampling Method. There were 40 samples of poor household. The data analysiss was Spearman Corelation, using primary data and secondary data. The datas were identity of household, income, quantity of family, habitation food, expulsion of food and non food. Food consumption of house hold were taken as long 24 hours (recall method). The result of this research showing are: 1). There were 70 percent of household were supervised by the poverty line, 27,5 percent were poor and 2,5 percent approaching poor. 2). General the issuing per capita per month of the sample household was Rp. 137.162,- on everage the percentage of the issuing of food and non food per capita per each respective month were 64 percent and 36 percent. 3). Based on research and card point of recall 24 hours there were nothing of household reach the limit of quality of consumption of the nutrient of the standard that is 2/3 the part or 66 percent. 4). Was based on the correlation Spearman from several variables that were researched, the valuable variable significant and real towards diversification of food of the sample was the issuing of food per capita per month with the correlation was 0, 436.

Keyword : The Diversification Of Food, Household Poorness Level, Food Consumption Of Household